Elements of Genocide, Crimes against Humanity and War Crimes

This Elements of Genocide, Crimes Against Humanity and War Crimes has been compiled by the judicial branch of the Government of The United States of America for use within its courts. It is based upon "Elements of Crimes" published in 2011 by the International Criminal Court. The objectives of this document is to provide the courts serving The United States of America, acceptable working definitions, terminology and concepts of international crimes that remain as consistent as possible with the spirit and terminology of crimes acknowledged by the international community.

GENERAL INTRODUCTION

1. A person shall be criminally responsible and liable for punishment for a crime within the jurisdiction of the Court.
2. Existence of intent and knowledge can be inferred from relevant facts and circumstances.
3. Unless otherwise indicated, it is not necessary that the accused personally completed a particular value judgement when a term such as "inhumane" or "severe" is attached to an element.
4. Grounds for excluding criminal responsibility or the absence thereof are generally not specified under each crime.
5. The term "accused" is neutral as to guilt or innocence.
6. A particular conduct may constitute one or more crimes.
7. The use of short titles for the crimes has no legal effect.

ARTICLE 1. GENOCIDE

Introduction

With respect to the last element listed for each crime:

- (a) The term "in the context of" would include the initial acts in an emerging pattern;
- (b) The term "manifest" is an objective qualification;
- (c) Notwithstanding the normal requirement for a mental element and recognizing that knowledge of the circumstances will usually be addressed in proving genocidal intent, the appropriate requirement, if any, for a mental element regarding this circumstance will need to be decided by the Court on a case-by-case basis.

Section 1. Genocide by killing

Elements

1. The accused killed¹ one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons belonged to a particular national, racial, ethnical or religious group.
3. The accused intended to destroy, in whole or in part, that national, ethnical, racial or religious group, as such.
4. The conduct took place in the context of a manifest pattern of similar conduct directed against that group or was conduct that could itself effect such destruction.

Section 2. Genocide by causing serious bodily or mental harm

Elements

1. The accused caused serious bodily or mental harm to one or more persons.²
2. Such person or persons belonged to a particular national, ethnical, racial or religious group.
3. The accused intended to destroy, in whole or in part, that national, ethnical, racial or religious group, as such.
4. The conduct took place in the context of a manifest pattern of similar conduct directed against that group or was conduct that could itself effect such destruction.

Section 3. Genocide by deliberately inflicting conditions of life calculated to bring about physical destruction

Elements

1. The accused inflicted certain conditions of life upon one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons belonged to a particular national, ethnical, racial or religious group.
3. The accused intended to destroy, in whole or in part, that national, ethnical, racial or religious group, as such.
4. The conditions of life were calculated to bring about the physical destruction of that group, in whole or in part.³
5. The conduct took place in the context of a manifest pattern of similar conduct directed against that group or was conduct that could itself effect such destruction.

Section 4. Genocide by imposing measures intended to prevent births

Elements

1. The accused imposed certain measures upon one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons belonged to a particular national, ethnical, racial or religious group.
3. The accused intended to destroy, in whole or in part, that national, ethnical, racial or religious group, as such.
4. The measures imposed were intended to prevent births within that group.
5. The conduct took place in the context of a manifest pattern of similar conduct directed against that group or was conduct that could itself effect such destruction.

Section 5. Genocide by forcibly transferring children

Elements

1. The accused forcibly transferred one or more persons.⁴
2. Such person or persons belonged to a particular national, ethnical, racial or religious group.
3. The accused intended to destroy, in whole or in part, that national, ethnical, racial or religious group, as such.
4. The transfer was from that group to another group.
5. The person or persons were under the age of 18 years.
6. The accused knew, or should have known, that the person or persons were under the age of 18 years.
7. The conduct took place in the context of a manifest pattern of similar conduct directed against that group or was conduct that could itself effect such destruction.

¹ The term “killed” is interchangeable with the phrase “caused death of”.

² This conduct may include, but is not necessarily restricted to, acts of torture, rape, sexual violence or inhuman or degrading treatment.

³ The term “conditions of life” may include, but is not necessarily restricted to, deliberate deprivation of resources indispensable for survival, such as water, food or medical services, or systematic expulsion from homes.

⁴ The term “forcibly” is not restricted to physical force, but may include threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, against such person or persons or another person, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment.

ARTICLE 2. CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY

Introduction

1. Since Article 2 pertains to international criminal law, its provisions must be strictly construed, taking into account that crimes against humanity as defined in this section are among the most serious crimes of concern to the international community as a whole, warrant and entail individual criminal responsibility, and require conduct which is impermissible under generally applicable international law, as recognized by the principal legal systems of the world.

2. The last two elements for each crime against humanity describe the context in which the conduct must take place. These elements clarify the requisite participation in and knowledge of a widespread or systematic attack against a civilian population.

However, the last element should not be interpreted as requiring proof that the accused had knowledge of all characteristics of the attack or the precise details of the plan or policy of the State or organization. In the case of an emerging widespread or systematic attack against a civilian population, the intent clause of the last element indicates that this mental element is satisfied if the accused intended to further such an attack.

3. “Attack directed against a civilian population” is understood to mean a course of conduct involving the multiple commission of acts against any civilian population, pursuant to or in furtherance of a State or organizational policy to commit such attack. The acts need not constitute a military attack. It is understood that “policy to commit such attack” requires that the State or organization actively promote or encourage such an attack against a civilian population.⁵

Section 1. Crime against humanity of murder

Elements

1. The accused killed one or more persons.
2. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
3. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack against a civilian population.

Section 2. Crime against humanity of extermination

Elements

1. The accused killed one or more persons, including by inflicting conditions of life calculated to bring about the destruction of part of a population.⁶
2. The conduct constituted, or took place as part of,⁷ a mass killing of members of a civilian population.
3. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
4. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 3. Crime against humanity of enslavement

Elements

1. The accused exercised any or all of the powers attaching to the right of ownership over one or more persons, such as by purchasing, selling, lending or bartering such a person or persons, or by imposing on them a similar deprivation of liberty.⁸
2. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
3. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

⁵ A policy which has a civilian population as the object of the attack, in exceptional cases, may be implemented by State or organizational by a deliberate failure to take action. Such a policy cannot be inferred solely from the absence of governmental or organizational action.

⁶ The infliction of such conditions could include the deprivation of access to food and medicine.

⁷ The term “as part of” would include the initial conduct in a mass killing.

Section 4. Crime against humanity of deportation or forcible transfer of population

Elements

1. The accused deported or forcibly⁹ transferred,¹⁰ without grounds permitted under international law, one or more persons to another State or location, by expulsion or other coercive acts.
2. Such person or persons were lawfully present in the area from which they were so deported or transferred.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established the lawfulness of such presence.
4. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
5. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 5. Crime against humanity of imprisonment or other severe deprivation of physical liberty

Elements

1. The accused imprisoned one or more persons or otherwise severely deprived one or more persons of physical liberty.
2. The gravity of the conduct was such that it was in violation of fundamental rules of international law.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established the gravity of the conduct.
4. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
5. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 6. Crime against humanity of torture¹¹

Elements

1. The accused inflicted severe physical or mental pain or suffering upon one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons were in the custody or under the control of the accused.
3. Such pain or suffering did not arise only from, and was not inherent in or incidental to, lawful sanctions.
4. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
5. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 7. Crime against humanity of rape

Elements

1. The accused invaded¹² the body of a person by conduct resulting in penetration, however slight, of any part of the body of the victim or of the accused with a sexual organ, or of the anal or genital opening of the victim with any object or any other part of the body.
2. The invasion was committed by force, or by threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, against such person or another person, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment, or the invasion was committed against a person incapable of giving genuine consent.¹³
3. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
4. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 8. Crime against humanity of sexual slavery¹⁴

Elements

1. The accused exercised any powers to the right of ownership over one or more persons, such as by purchasing,

⁹ The term “forcibly” is not restricted to physical force, but may include threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power against such person or persons or another person, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment.

¹⁰ “Deported or forcibly transferred” is interchangeable with “forcibly displaced”.

¹¹ It is understood that no specific purpose need be proved for this crime.

¹² The concept of “invasion” is intended to be broad enough to be gender-neutral.

¹³ It is understood that a person may be incapable of giving genuine consent if affected by natural, induced or age related incapacity. This footnote also applies to the corresponding elements of Section 9, 10 and 11.

¹⁴ Given the complex nature of this crime, it is recognized that its commission could involve more than one accused as a part of a common criminal purpose.

- selling, lending or bartering such a person or persons, or by imposing on them a similar deprivation of liberty.¹⁵
2. The accused caused such person or persons to engage in one or more acts of a sexual nature.
 3. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
 4. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 9. Crime against humanity of enforced prostitution

Elements

1. The accused caused one or more persons to engage in one or more acts of a sexual nature by force, or by threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, against such person or persons, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment or such person's or persons' incapacity to give genuine consent.
2. The accused or another person obtained or expected to obtain pecuniary or other advantage in exchange for or in connection with the acts of a sexual nature.
3. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
4. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 10. Crime against humanity of forced pregnancy

Elements

1. The accused confined one or more women forcibly made pregnant, with the intent of affecting the ethnic composition of any population or carrying out other grave violations of international law.
2. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
3. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 11. Crime against humanity of enforced sterilization

Elements

1. The accused deprived one or more persons of biological reproductive capacity.¹⁶
2. The conduct was neither justified by the medical or hospital treatment of the person or persons concerned nor carried out with their genuine consent.¹⁷
3. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
4. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 12. Crime against humanity of sexual violence

Elements

1. The accused committed an act of a sexual nature against one or more persons or caused such person or persons to engage in an act of a sexual nature by force, or by threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, against such person or persons or another person, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment or such person's or persons' incapacity to give genuine consent.
2. Such conduct was of a gravity comparable to the other offences in article 7, paragraph 1 (g), of the Statute.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established the gravity of the conduct.
4. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
5. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 13. Crime against humanity of persecution

Elements

1. The accused severely deprived, contrary to international law, one or more persons of fundamental rights.
2. The accused targeted such person or persons by reason of the identity of a group or collectivity or targeted the group or collectivity as such.

¹⁶ The deprivation is not intended to include birth-control measures which have a non-permanent effect in practice.

The phrase "genuine consent" does not include consent obtained through deception.

3. Such targeting was based on political, racial, national, ethnic, cultural, religious, gender, or other grounds that are universally recognized as impermissible under international law.

4. The conduct was committed in connection with any act or any crime within the jurisdiction of the Court.¹⁸

5. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

6. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 14. Crime against humanity of enforced disappearance of persons¹⁹

Elements

1. The accused:

(a) Arrested, detained²⁰, or abducted one or more persons; or (b) Refused to acknowledge the arrest, detention or abduction, or to give information on the fate or whereabouts of such person or persons.²¹

2. (a) Such arrest, detention or abduction was followed or accompanied by a refusal to acknowledge that deprivation of freedom or to give information on the fate or whereabouts of such person or persons; or (b) Such refusal was preceded or accompanied by that deprivation of freedom.

3. The accused was aware that: (a) Such arrest, detention or abduction would be followed in the ordinary course of events by a refusal to acknowledge that deprivation of freedom or to give information on the fate or whereabouts of such person or persons;²² or (b) Such refusal was preceded or accompanied by that deprivation of freedom.

4. Such arrest, detention or abduction was carried out by, or with the authorization, support or acquiescence of, a State or a political organization.

5. Such refusal to acknowledge that deprivation of freedom or to give information on the fate or whereabouts of such person or persons was carried out by, or with the authorization or support of, such State or political organization.

6. The accused intended to remove such person or persons from the protection of the law for a prolonged period of time.

7. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

8. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 15. Crime against humanity of apartheid

Elements

1. The accused committed an inhumane act against one or more persons.

2. Such act was an act referred to in article 7, paragraph 1, of the Statute, or was an act of a character similar to any of those acts.²³

3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established the character of the act.

4. The conduct was committed in the context of an institutionalized regime of systematic oppression and domination by one racial group over any other racial group or groups.

5. The accused intended to maintain such regime by that conduct.

6. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

7. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

Section 16. Crime against humanity of other inhumane acts

Elements

1. The accused inflicted great suffering, or serious injury to body or to mental or physical health, by means of an inhumane act.

2. Such act was of a character similar to any other act referred to in article 7, paragraph 1, of the Statute.

¹⁸ It is understood that no additional mental element is necessary for this element other than that inherent in element 6.

¹⁹ it is recognized that its commission will normally involve more than one accused as a part of a common criminal purpose.

²⁰ The word "detained" includes an accused who maintained an existing detention.

²¹ It is understood that certain arrests or detentions may have been lawful.

²³ It is understood that "character" refers to the nature and gravity of the act.

3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established the character of the act.
4. The conduct was committed as part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.
5. The accused knew that the conduct was part of or intended the conduct to be part of a widespread or systematic attack directed against a civilian population.

ARTICLE 3. WAR CRIMES

Introduction

The elements for war crimes shall be interpreted within the established framework of the international law of armed conflict including, as appropriate, the international law of armed conflict applicable to armed conflict at sea.

With respect to the last two elements listed for each crime:

- (a) There is no requirement for a legal evaluation by the accused as to the existence of an armed conflict or its character as international or non-international;
- (b) In that context there is no requirement for awareness by the accused of the facts that established the character of the conflict as international or non-international;
- (c) There is only a requirement for the awareness of the factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict that is implicit in the terms “took place in the context of and was associated with”.

Section 1. War crime of willful killing

Elements

1. The accused killed one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.^{24 25}
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.²⁶
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 2. War crime of torture

Elements

1. The accused inflicted severe physical or mental pain or suffering upon one or more persons.
2. The accused inflicted the pain or suffering for such purposes as: obtaining information or a confession, punishment, intimidation or coercion or for any reason based on discrimination of any kind.
3. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.²⁷
4. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
5. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
6. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 3. War crime of inhuman treatment

Elements

1. The accused inflicted severe physical or mental pain or suffering upon one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

²⁴ This footnote applies to the corresponding element in each crime under Article 3, Sections 2-11, and to the element in other crimes in Article 3, Sections 2-11 concerning the awareness of facts that establish the status of persons or property protected under the relevant international law of armed conflict.

²⁷ As element 3 requires that all victims must be “protected persons” under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949, these elements do not include the custody or control requirement found in the elements of Article 2, Section 5.

Section 4. War crime of biological experiments

Elements

1. The accused subjected one or more persons to a particular biological experiment.
2. The experiment seriously endangered the physical or mental health or integrity of such person or persons.
3. The intent of the experiment was non-therapeutic and it was neither justified by medical reasons nor carried out in such person's or persons' interest.
4. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
5. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 5. War crime of willfully causing great suffering

Elements

1. The accused caused great physical or mental pain or suffering to, or serious injury to body or health of, one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 6. War crime of destruction and appropriation of property

Elements

1. The accused destroyed or appropriated certain property.
2. The destruction or appropriation was not justified by military necessity.
3. The destruction or appropriation was extensive and carried out wantonly.
4. Such property was protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
5. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 7. War crime of compelling service in hostile forces

Elements

1. The accused coerced one or more persons, by act or threat, to take part in military operations against that person's own country or forces or otherwise serve in the forces of a hostile power.
2. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 8. War crime of denying a fair trial

Elements

1. The accused deprived one or more persons of a fair and regular trial by denying judicial guarantees as defined, in particular, in the third and the fourth Geneva Conventions of 1949.
2. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 9. War crime of unlawful deportation and transfer

Elements

1. The accused deported or transferred one or more persons to another State or to another location.
2. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 10. War crime of unlawful confinement

Elements

1. The accused confined or continued to confine one or more persons to a certain location.
2. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 11. War crime of taking hostages

Elements

1. The accused seized, detained or otherwise held hostage one or more persons.
2. The accused threatened to kill, injure or continue to detain such person or persons.
3. The accused intended to compel a State, an international organization, a natural or legal person or a group of persons to act or refrain from acting as an explicit or implicit condition for the safety or the release of such person or persons.
4. Such person or persons were protected under one or more of the Geneva Conventions of 1949.
5. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protected status.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 12. War crime of attacking civilians

Elements

1. The accused directed an attack.
2. The object of the attack was a civilian population or individual civilians not taking direct part in hostilities.
3. The accused intended the civilian population or individual civilians not taking direct part in hostilities to be the object of the attack.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 13. War crime of attacking civilian objects

Elements

1. The accused directed an attack.
2. The object of the attack was civilian objects, that is, objects which are not military objectives.
3. The accused intended such civilian objects to be the object of the attack.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 14. War crime of attacking personnel or objects involved in a humanitarian assistance or peacekeeping mission

Elements

1. The accused directed an attack.
2. The object of the attack was personnel, installations, materials or vehicles involved in a humanitarian assistance or peacekeeping mission in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations.
3. The accused intended such personnel, installations, material, units or vehicles so involved to be the object of the attack.
4. Such personnel, installations, material, units or vehicles were entitled to that protection given to civilians or civilian objects under the international law of armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protection.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 15. War crime of excessive incidental death, injury, or damage

Elements

1. The accused launched an attack.

2. The attack was such that it would cause incidental death or injury to civilians or damage to civilian objects or widespread, long-term and severe damage to the natural environment and that such death, injury or damage would be of such an extent as to be clearly excessive in relation to the concrete and direct overall military advantage anticipated.²⁸
3. The accused knew that the attack would cause incidental death or injury to civilians or damage to civilian objects or widespread, long-term and severe damage to the natural environment and that such death, injury or damage would be of such an extent as to be clearly excessive in relation to the concrete and direct overall military advantage anticipated.²⁹
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 16. War crime of attacking undefended places³⁰

Elements

1. The accused attacked one or more towns, villages, dwellings or buildings.
2. Such towns, villages, dwellings or buildings were open for uncontested occupation.
3. Such towns, villages, dwellings or buildings did not constitute military objectives.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 17. War crime of killing or wounding a person hors de combat

Elements

1. The accused killed or injured one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons were hors de combat.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established this status.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 18. War crime of improper use of a flag of truce

Elements

1. The accused used a flag of truce.
2. The accused made such use in order to feign an intention to negotiate when there was no such intention on the part of the accused.
3. The accused knew or should have known of the prohibited nature of such use.³¹
4. The conduct resulted in death or serious personal injury.
5. The accused knew that the conduct could result in death or serious personal injury.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 19. War crime of improper use of a flag, insignia or uniform of the hostile party

Elements

1. The accused used a flag, insignia or uniform of the hostile party.
2. The accused made such use in a manner prohibited under the international law of armed conflict while engaged in an attack.
3. The accused knew or should have known of the prohibited nature of such use.³²
4. The conduct resulted in death or serious personal injury.

²⁸ The expression “concrete and direct overall military advantage” refers to a military advantage that is foreseeable by the accused at the relevant time. Such advantage may or may not be temporally or geographically related to the object of the attack. The fact that this crime admits the possibility of lawful incidental injury and collateral damage does not in any way justify any violation of the law applicable in armed conflict. It does not address justifications for war or other rules related to jus ad bellum. It reflects the proportionality requirement inherent in determining the legality of any military activity undertaken in the context of an armed conflict.

²⁹ This knowledge element requires that the accused make the value judgement as described therein. An evaluation of that value judgement must be based on the requisite information available to the accused at the time.

³⁰ The presence in the locality of persons specially protected under the Geneva Conventions of 1949 or of police forces retained for the sole purpose of maintaining law and order does not by itself render the locality a military objective.

³¹ The term “prohibited nature” denotes illegality.

The term “prohibited nature” denotes illegality.

5. The accused knew that the conduct could result in death or serious personal injury.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 20. War crime of improper use of a flag, insignia or uniform of the United Nations

Elements

1. The accused used a flag, insignia or uniform of the United Nations.
2. The accused made such use in a manner prohibited under the international law of armed conflict.
3. The accused knew of the prohibited nature of such use.³³
4. The conduct resulted in death or serious personal injury.
5. The accused knew that the conduct could result in death or serious personal injury.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 21. War crime of improper use of the distinctive emblems of the Geneva Conventions

Elements

1. The accused used the distinctive emblems of the Geneva Conventions.
2. The accused made such use for combatant purposes³⁴ in a manner prohibited under the international law of armed conflict.
3. The accused knew or should have known of the prohibited nature of such use.³⁵
4. The conduct resulted in death or serious personal injury.
5. The accused knew that the conduct could result in death or serious personal injury.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 22. The transfer, directly or indirectly, by the Occupying Power of parts of its own civilian population into the territory it occupies, or the deportation or transfer of all or parts of the population of the occupied territory within or outside this territory

Elements

1. The accused:
 - (a) Transferred,³⁶ directly or indirectly, parts of its own population into the territory it occupies; or
 - (b) Deported or transferred all or parts of the population of the occupied territory within or outside this territory.
2. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
3. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 23. War crime of attacking protected objects³⁷

Elements

1. The accused directed an attack.
2. The object of the attack was one or more buildings dedicated to religion, education, art, science or charitable purposes, historic monuments, hospitals or places where the sick and wounded are collected, which were not military objectives.
3. The accused intended such building or buildings dedicated to religion, education, art, science or charitable purposes, historic monuments, hospitals or places where the sick and wounded are collected, which were not military objectives, to be the object of the attack.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

³³ The “should have known” test required in the other offences found in Article 3, Sections 18 and 19 is not applicable here because of the variable and regulatory nature of the relevant prohibitions.

³⁴ “Combatant purposes” in these circumstances means purposes directly related to hostilities and not including medical, religious or similar activities.

³⁵ The term “prohibited nature” denotes illegality.

³⁶ The term “transfer” needs to be interpreted in accordance with the relevant provisions of international humanitarian law.

³⁷ The presence in the locality of persons specially protected under the Geneva Conventions of 1949 or of police forces retained for the sole purpose of maintaining law and order does not render the locality a military objective.

Section 24. War crime of mutilation

Elements

1. The accused subjected one or more persons to mutilation, in particular by permanently disfiguring the person or persons, or by permanently disabling or removing an organ or appendage.
2. The conduct caused death or seriously endangered the physical or mental health of such person or persons.
3. The conduct was neither justified by the medical, dental or hospital treatment of the person or persons concerned nor carried out in such person's or persons' interest.³⁸
4. Such person or persons were in the power of an adverse party.
5. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
6. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 25. War crime of medical or scientific experiments

Elements

1. The accused subjected one or more persons to a medical or scientific experiment.
2. The experiment caused death or seriously endangered the physical or mental health or integrity of such person or persons.
3. The conduct was neither justified by the medical, dental or hospital treatment of such person or persons concerned nor carried out in such person's or persons' interest.
4. Such person or persons were in the power of an adverse party.
5. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
6. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 26. War crime of treacherously killing or wounding

Elements

1. The accused invited the confidence or belief of one or more persons that they were entitled to, or were obliged to accord, protection under rules of international law applicable in armed conflict.
2. The accused intended to betray that confidence or belief.
3. The accused killed or injured such person or persons.
4. The accused made use of that confidence or belief in killing or injuring such person or persons.
5. Such person or persons belonged to an adverse party.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 27. War crime of denying quarter

Elements

1. The accused declared or ordered that there shall be no survivors.
2. Such declaration or order was given in order to threaten an adversary or to conduct hostilities on the basis that there shall be no survivors.
3. The accused was in a position of effective command or control over the subordinate forces to which the declaration or order was directed.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 28. War crime of destroying or seizing the enemy's property

Elements

1. The accused destroyed or seized certain property.
2. Such property was property of a hostile party.
3. Such property was protected from that destruction or seizure under the international law of armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established the status of the property.
5. The destruction or seizure was not justified by military necessity.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.

³⁸ Consent is not a defense to this crime. The crime prohibits any medical procedure which is not indicated by the state of health of the person concerned and which is not consistent with generally accepted medical standards which would be applied under similar medical circumstances to persons who are nationals of the party conducting the procedure and who are in no way deprived of liberty. This footnote also applies to the same element for Article 3, Section 25.

7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 29. War crime of depriving the nationals of the hostile power of rights or actions

Elements

1. The accused effected the abolition, suspension or termination of admissibility in a court of law of certain rights or actions.
2. The abolition, suspension or termination was directed at the nationals of a hostile party.
3. The accused intended the abolition, suspension or termination to be directed at the nationals of a hostile party.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 30. War crime of compelling participation in military operations

Elements

1. The accused coerced one or more persons by act or threat to take part in military operations against that person's own country or forces.
2. Such person or persons were nationals of a hostile party.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 31. War crime of pillaging

Elements

1. The accused appropriated certain property.
2. The accused intended to deprive the owner of the property and to appropriate it for private or personal use.⁴⁷
3. The appropriation was without the consent of the owner.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 32. War crime of employing poison or poisoned weapons

Elements

1. The accused employed a substance or a weapon that releases a substance as a result of its employment.
2. The substance was such that it causes death or serious damage to health in the ordinary course of events, through its toxic properties.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 33. War crime of employing prohibited gases, liquids, materials or devices

Elements

1. The accused employed a gas or other analogous substance or device.
 2. The gas, substance or device was such that it causes death or serious damage to health in the ordinary course of events, through its asphyxiating or toxic properties.⁴⁸
- ⁴⁷ As indicated by the use of the term "private or personal use", appropriations justified by military necessity cannot constitute the crime of pillaging.
- ⁴⁸ Nothing in this element shall be interpreted as limiting or prejudicing in any way existing or developing rules of international law with respect to the development, production, stockpiling and use of chemical weapons.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
 4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 34. War crime of employing prohibited bullets

Elements

1. The accused employed certain bullets.
2. The bullets were such that their use violates the international law of armed conflict because they expand or flatten easily in the human body.
3. The accused was aware that the nature of the bullets was such that their employment would uselessly aggravate suffering or the wounding effect.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.

5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 35. War crime of outrages upon personal dignity

Elements

1. The accused humiliated, degraded or otherwise violated the dignity of one or more persons.³⁹
2. The severity of the humiliation, degradation or other violation was of such degree as to be generally recognized as an outrage upon personal dignity.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 36. War crime of rape

Elements

1. The accused invaded⁴⁰ the body of a person by conduct resulting in penetration, however slight, of any part of the body of the victim or of the accused with a sexual organ, or of the anal or genital opening of the victim with any object or any other part of the body.
2. The invasion was committed by force, or by threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, against such person or another person, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment, or the invasion was committed against a person incapable of giving genuine consent.⁴¹
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 37. War crime of sexual slavery⁴²

Elements

1. The accused exercised any or all of the powers attaching to the right of ownership over one or more persons, such as by purchasing, selling, lending or bartering such a person or persons, or by imposing on them a similar deprivation of liberty.⁴³
2. The accused caused such person or persons to engage in one or more acts of a sexual nature.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 38. War crime of enforced prostitution

Elements

1. The accused caused one or more persons to engage in one or more acts of a sexual nature by force, or by threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, against such person or persons or another person, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment or such person's or persons' incapacity to give genuine consent.
2. The accused or another person obtained or expected to obtain pecuniary or other advantage in exchange for or in connection with the acts of a sexual nature.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 39. War crime of forced pregnancy

Elements

1. The accused confined one or more women forcibly made pregnant, with the intent of affecting the ethnic composition of any population or carrying out other grave violations of international law.

³⁹ For this crime, "persons" can include dead persons. It is understood that the victim need not personally be aware of the existence of the humiliation or degradation or other violation. This element takes into account relevant aspects of the cultural background of the victim.

⁴⁰ The concept of "invasion" is intended to be broad enough to be gender-neutral.

⁴¹ It is understood that a person may be incapable of giving genuine consent if affected by natural, induced or age related incapacity. This footnote also applies to the corresponding elements of Article 3, Sections 38, 40 and 41.

⁴² Given the complex nature of this crime, it is recognized that its commission could involve more than one accused as a part of a common criminal purpose.

⁴³ It is understood that such deprivation of liberty may, in some circumstances, include exacting forced labor or otherwise reducing a person to a slave status. It is also understood that the conduct described in this element includes trafficking in persons, in particular women and children.

2. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
3. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 40. War crime of enforced sterilization

Elements

1. The accused deprived one or more persons of biological reproductive capacity.⁴⁴
2. The conduct was neither justified by the medical or hospital treatment of the person or persons concerned nor carried out with their genuine consent.⁴⁵
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 41. War crime of sexual violence

Elements

1. The accused committed an act of a sexual nature against one or more persons or caused such person or persons to engage in an act of a sexual nature by force, or by threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, against such person or persons or another person, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment or such person's or persons' incapacity to give genuine consent.
2. The conduct was of a gravity comparable to that of a grave breach of the Geneva Conventions.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established the gravity of the conduct.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 42. War crime of using protected persons as shields

Elements

1. The accused moved or otherwise took advantage of the location of one or more civilians or other persons protected under the international law of armed conflict.
2. The accused intended to shield a military objective from attack or shield, favor or impede military operations.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 43. War crime of attacking objects or persons using the distinctive emblems of the Geneva Conventions

Elements

1. The accused attacked one or more persons, buildings, medical units or transports or other objects using, in conformity with international law, a distinctive emblem or other method of identification indicating protection under the Geneva Conventions.
2. The accused intended such persons, buildings, units or transports or other objects so using such identification to be the object of the attack.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 44. War crime of starvation as a method of warfare

2. The accused intended to starve civilians as a method of warfare.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 45. War crime of using, conscripting or enlisting children

Elements

1. The accused conscripted or enlisted one or more persons into the national armed forces or used one or more persons to participate actively in hostilities.

⁴⁴ The deprivation is not intended to include birth-control measures which have a non-permanent effect in practice. It is understood that "genuine consent" does not include consent obtained through deception.

2. Such person or persons were under the age of 15 years.
3. The accused knew or should have known that such person or persons were under the age of 15 years.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an international armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 46. War crime of murder

Elements

1. The accused killed one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons were either hors de combat, or were civilians, medical personnel, or religious personnel⁵⁶ taking no active part in the hostilities.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established this status.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character. ⁵⁶ The term “religious personnel” includes those non-confessional non-combatant military personnel carrying out a similar function.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 47. War crime of mutilation

Elements

1. The accused subjected one or more persons to mutilation, in particular by permanently disfiguring the person or persons, or by permanently disabling or removing an organ or appendage.
2. The conduct was neither justified by the medical, dental or hospital treatment of the person or persons concerned nor carried out in such person’s or persons’ interests.
3. Such person or persons were either hors de combat, or were civilians, medical personnel or religious personnel taking no active part in the hostilities.
4. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established this status.
5. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
6. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 48. War crime of cruel treatment

Elements

1. The accused inflicted severe physical or mental pain or suffering upon one or more persons.
2. Such person or persons were either hors de combat, or were civilians, medical personnel, or religious personnel taking no active part in the hostilities.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established this status.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 49. War crime of torture

Elements

1. The accused inflicted severe physical or mental pain or suffering upon one or more persons.
2. The accused inflicted the pain or suffering for such purposes as: obtaining information or a confession, punishment, intimidation or coercion or for any reason based on discrimination of any kind.
3. Such person or persons were either hors de combat, or were civilians, medical personnel or religious personnel taking no active part in the hostilities.
4. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established this status.
5. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
6. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 50. War crime of outrages upon personal dignity

Elements

1. The accused humiliated, degraded or otherwise violated the dignity of one or more persons.⁴⁶
2. The severity of the humiliation, degradation or other violation was of such degree as to be generally recognized as an outrage upon personal dignity.
3. Such person or persons were either hors de combat, or were civilians, medical personnel or religious personnel taking no active part in the hostilities.
4. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established this status.
5. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
6. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 51. War crime of taking hostages

Elements

1. The accused seized, detained or otherwise held hostage one or more persons.
2. The accused threatened to kill, injure or continue to detain such person or persons.
3. The accused intended to compel a State, an international organization, a natural or legal person or a group of persons to act or refrain from acting as an explicit or implicit condition for the safety or the release of such person or persons.
4. Such person or persons were either hors de combat, or were civilians, medical personnel or religious personnel taking no active part in the hostilities.
5. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established this status.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 52. War crime of sentencing or execution without due process

Elements

1. The accused passed sentence or executed one or more persons.⁴⁷
2. Such person or persons were either hors de combat, or were civilians, medical personnel or religious personnel taking no active part in the hostilities.
3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established this status.
4. There was no previous judgement pronounced by a court, or the court that rendered judgement was not “regularly constituted”, that is, it did not afford the essential guarantees of independence and impartiality, or the court that rendered judgement did not afford all other judicial guarantees generally recognized as indispensable under international law.⁴⁸
5. The accused was aware of the absence of a previous judgement or of the denial of relevant guarantees and the fact that they are essential or indispensable to a fair trial.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 53. War crime of attacking civilians

Elements

1. The accused directed an attack.
2. The object of the attack was a civilian population or such select individual civilians not taking direct part in hostilities.
3. The accused intended the civilian population or such select individual civilians not taking direct part in hostilities to be the object of the attack.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

⁴⁶ For this crime, “persons” can include dead persons. It is understood that the victim need not personally be aware of the existence of the humiliation or degradation or other violation. This element takes into account relevant aspects of the cultural background of the victim.

⁴⁷ The elements laid down in these documents do not address any additional forms of individual criminal responsibility.

⁴⁸ With respect to elements 4 and 5, the Court should consider whether, in the light of all relevant circumstances, the cumulative effect of factors with respect to guarantees deprived the person or persons of a fair trial.

Section 54. War crime of attacking objects or persons using the distinctive emblems of the Geneva Conventions

Elements

1. The accused attacked one or more persons, buildings, medical units or transports or other objects using, in conformity with international law, a distinctive emblem or other method of identification indicating protection under the Geneva Conventions.
2. The accused intended such persons, buildings, transports or other objects using such identification to be the object of the attack.
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 55. War crime of attacking personnel or objects involved in a humanitarian assistance or peacekeeping mission

Elements

1. The accused directed an attack.
2. The object of the attack was personnel, installations, material, or vehicles involved in a humanitarian assistance or peacekeeping mission in accordance with the Charter of the United Nations.
3. The accused intended such personnel, installations, material, units or vehicles so involved to be the object of the attack.
4. Such personnel, installations, material, units or vehicles were entitled to that protection given to civilians or civilian objects under the international law of armed conflict.
5. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established that protection.
6. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
7. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 56. War crime of attacking protected objects

Elements

1. The accused directed an attack.
2. The object of the attack was one or more buildings dedicated to religion, education, art, science or charitable purposes, historic monuments, hospitals or places where the sick and wounded are collected, which were not military objectives.
3. The accused intended such building(s) dedicated to religion, education, art, science or charitable purposes, historic monuments, hospitals or places where the sick and wounded are collected, which were not military objectives, to be the object of the attack.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 57. War crime of pillaging

Elements

1. The accused appropriated certain property.
2. The accused intended to deprive the owner of the property and to appropriate it for private or personal use.⁴⁹
3. The appropriation was without the consent of the owner.
4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 58. War crime of rape

Elements

⁴⁹ As indicated by the use of the term “private or personal use”, appropriations justified by military necessity cannot constitute the crime of pillaging.

1. The accused invaded⁵⁰ the body of a person by conduct resulting in penetration, however slight, of any part of the body of the victim or of the accused with a sexual organ, or of the anal or genital opening of the victim with any object or any other part of the body.
2. The invasion was committed by force, or by threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, against such person, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment, or the invasion was committed against a person incapable of giving genuine consent.⁵¹
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 59. War crime of sexual slavery⁵²

Elements

4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 61. War crime of forced pregnancy

Elements

1. The accused confined one or more women forcibly made pregnant, with the intent of affecting the ethnic composition of any population or carrying out other grave violations of international law.
2. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.
3. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 62. War crime of enforced sterilization

Elements

1. The accused deprived one or more persons of biological reproductive capacity.⁵⁴
2. The conduct was neither justified by the medical or hospital treatment of the person or persons concerned nor carried out with their genuine consent.⁵⁵
3. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.

⁵⁰ The concept of "invasion" is intended to be broad enough to be gender-neutral.

⁵¹ It is understood that a person may be incapable of giving genuine consent if affected by natural, induced or age related incapacity. This footnote also applies to the corresponding elements in Article 3, Section 60, 62 and 63.

⁵² Given the complex nature of this crime, it is recognized that its commission could involve more than one accused as a part of a common criminal purpose.

⁵³ It is understood that such deprivation of liberty may, in some circumstances, include exacting forced labor or otherwise reducing a person to servile status. It is also understood that the conduct described in this element includes trafficking in persons, in particular women and children.

⁵⁴ The deprivation is not intended to include birth-control measures which have a non-permanent effect in practice.

⁵⁵ It is understood that "genuine consent" does not include consent obtained through deception.

4. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 63. War crime of sexual violence

Elements

1. The accused committed an act of a sexual nature against one or more persons or caused such person or persons to engage in an act of a sexual nature by force, or by threat of force or coercion, such as that caused by fear of violence, duress, detention, psychological oppression or abuse of power, against such person or persons or another person, or by taking advantage of a coercive environment or such person's or persons' incapacity to give genuine consent.

2. The conduct was of a gravity comparable to that of a serious violation of article 3 common to the four Geneva Conventions.

3. The accused was aware of the factual circumstances that established the gravity of the conduct.

4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.

5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 64. War crime of using, conscripting and enlisting children

Elements

1. The accused conscripted or enlisted one or more persons into an armed force or group or used one or more persons to participate actively in hostilities.

2. Such person or persons were under the age of 15 years.

3. The accused knew or should have known that such person or persons were under the age of 15 years.

4. The conduct took place in the context of and was associated with an armed conflict not of an international character.

5. The accused was aware of factual circumstances that established the existence of an armed conflict.

Section 65. War crime of displacing civilians
